Kerala man may be among IS group which stormed Afghan jail

SHAJU PHILIP
THIRUVANANTHAPURAM,
AUGUST 4

INTELLIGENCE AGENCIES have prima facie identified one of the Islamic State members who attacked a prison in Afghanistan's Jalalabad as Ehas Kettipapayal, hailing from Kasargod in Kerala.

Sources said family circles had identified Ehas from the photographs shown to them. However, no official confirmation could be made at this stage, sources said.

Ehas, a doctor by profession, joined Islamic State in 2016 along with his wife Rahula, then three months pregnant, and their two-year-old child. Also, his brother Shihaz, a management graduate, joined the IS along with his wife Ajnala, a physiotherapist.

Sources said they were part of the Kasargod module of Islamic State which was moved to Nangarhar province of Afghanistan in 2016 after having gone missing from Kasargod in May-June that year. "Ehas was in touch with the family even after reaching Afghanistan. They had shared the news about the birth of two babies of Ehas and Shihaz," a source said.

Their father Abdul Rahman, a Gulf returnee, could not be reached.

A close relative said, "They (the family) had considered the two sons as lost forever. Earlier, there had been rumours that the youths died in Afghanistan. We are not keen on the issue as we thought them to be dead much earlier," he said.

Militants affiliated with the Islamic State group stormed a prison in eastern Afghanistan in a daylong siege that left at least 39 people dead, including the assailants, and freed nearly 400 of their fighters before security forces restored order, a government official said Monday. It is unclear if Ehas was among those killed.

The Islamic State presence in Kerala had come to the fore with the disappearance of youths mainly from Kasargod in 2016. The NIA had then identified Abdul Rashid, an engineer and education activist, as the leader of this IS module.

MEA: 2 more Indians released from captivity in Afghanistan, return

SHUBHAJIT ROY
NEW DELHI, AUGUST 4

TWO MORE Indian nationals of the seven who were kidnapped by suspected Taliban gunmen — in Afghanistan in May 2018 — have been released and returned to the country on Tuesday, the Ministry of External Affairs said in a statement.

Seven Indians working with Indian power firm KEC International Limited were kidnapped in northern Baghlan province on May 6, 2018, and six of them have been released so far. The MEA statement came a day after Indian and Afghan political leaders and diplomats spoke to each other. The issue of their abduction has been part of the conversation between leaders and officials of both sides in the last two years.

In a statement on Tuesday, the MEA said, "Two Indian nationals, who were released from captivity in Afghanistan on July 21, 2020, returned to India today. Six Indian nationals have now been released so far from captivity... We thank the Government of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan for their constant and unwavering support in securing the release of the Indians."

The seven men were working on power projects run by the Afghan government when they were abducted. One of them was freed in March 2019 while three were released last October. While no group had claimed responsibility and the Taliban has not said anything on the issue so far, Baghlan Governor Abdulhali Nemati had, soon after the abduction, said that a Taliban group was behind the abduction. Nemati was quoted as saying that Afghan authorities had spoken with the Taliban group, via local people, and had been told that the KEC employees had been mistaken for government staff.

According to local reports, the KEC employees were abducted by armed men in Baghlan-Shamal village of the provincial capital Pule-Khomi, while they were travelling to the area where KEC has a contract to operate an electricity substation.

On Monday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Afghan President Ashraf Ghani had discussed the evolving security situation in the region against the backdrop of a spike in terrorist violence in Afghanistan.

The two leaders had a phone conversation and exchanged greetings on the occasion of Eid-ul-Azha. Ghani thanked Modi for timely supply of food and medical assistance to meet Afghanistan's requirements, according to an official statement.

The phone conversation coincided with a meeting in Kabul between Afghan National Security Adviser Hamdullah Mohib and Indian ambassador Vinay Kumar.

India hits back at new Pak map: 'An exercise in political absurdity'

SHUBHAJIT ROY
NEW DELHI, AUGUST 4

ON THE eve of the first anniversary of the withdrawal of Jammu and Kashmir's special status under Article 370 and its bifurcation into Union territories, Pakistan on Tuesday released a new political map which depicts J&K as a disputed territory, and claims the regions of Sir Creek and the erstwhile state of Junagadh in Gujarat as part of its territory. Reacting sharply to the move, India called it an "exercise in political absurdity".

"We have seen a so-called political map of Pakistan that has been released by Prime Minister Imran Khan. This is an exercise in political absurdity, laying untenable claims to territories in the Indian State of Gujarat and our Union Territories of Jammu & Kashmir and of Ladakh. These ridiculous assertions have neither legal validity nor international credibility. In fact, this new effort only confirms the reality of Pakistan's obsession with territorial aggrandisement supported by cross-border terrorism," the MEA said in an official statement. The map was unveiled by Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan, who claimed that it negates India's "illegal action" of August 5, and that it had been endorsed by the federal cabinet. This map will now be officially used in Pakistan's curriculum, Khan said.

The map depicts the entirety of Jammu and Kashmir as a disputed territory while also incorporating Siachen as part of Pakistan. It does not show any borders in the east of Kashmir, where China illegally occupied Aksai Chin. It also incorporates Sir Creek into Pakistani territory as well as parts of the erstwhile princely state of Junagadh.

The map also shows the Federally Administered Tribal Areas as being part of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province.

The Pakistan cabinet also approved the decision to rename a major road in Islamabad as Sinaghar Highway. The road was previously called Kashmir Highway.

This is not the first time Pakistan has tried to portray Junagadh as part of its territory. The 2012 Atlas of Islamic Republic of Pakistan also portrayed Junagadh as a separate territory.

LAC standoff: China says avoid differences escalating into disputes

SHUBHAJIT ROY
NEW DELHI, AUGUST 4

TWO MILITARY-level rounds of dialogue stand off at the Line of Actual Control, China on Tuesday said that the two sides "should always place the boundary issue in an appropriate position" in bilateral relations and "avoid differences escalating into disputes".

While there were no specific details about the latest round of talks between Indian and Chinese military commanders, the Chinese side reiterated its position as was spelt out by the Chinese ambassador last week.

Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Wang Wenbin said in Beijing, "We also believe that stronger solidarity and co-operation between China and India... will not only inject strong impetus into our respective development, but also add stability and positive energy to world peace and prosperity. The two sides should always place the boundary issue in an appropriate position in bilateral relations and avoid differences escalating into disputes. It is hoped that India will work with China in the same direction and jointly safeguard bilateral relations."

While responding to a question on whether India is considering measures to prevent trade partners, mainly in Southeast Asia, from rerouting Chinese goods to India with little added value, Wang said, "China has noted relevant reports. Chinese products exported to India meet the demand of India's domestic market... Practical cooperation between the two countries is mutually beneficial. It is not in India's own interest to sabotage this pattern of cooperation."

This came on a day the China Study Group (CSG), led by National Security Advisor Ajit Doval, reviewed the discussions of the fifth meeting on August 2 of the Corps Commanders at Molde and approved the next steps in the disengagement process on the LAC in Ladakh.

4% seats in professional colleges reserved for Ladakh students: J&K

BASHAARAT MASOOD
SRINAGAR, AUGUST 4

THE JAMMU and Kashmir administration has reserved 4 per cent seats in professional colleges across the UT for students from Ladakh for the academic year 2020-21. The decision has been taken as Ladakh doesn't have any medical or engineering colleges.

Ladakh, comprising Leh and Kargil districts, was carved out of the erstwhile state of Jammu and Kashmir. According to the 2011 census, Leh had a population of 1,47,104 and Kargil had a population of 1,43,388.

The reservation decision was taken at a review meeting chaired by J&K Chief Secretary B V R Subrahmanyam. An official release said the meeting was informed that reservation in professional institutions is governed by the Jammu and Kashmir Reservation Act and Rules, which have been amended after the organisation of Jammu and Kashmir, and that the Act and Rules do not apply to Ladakh.

"Twenty four seats from engineering colleges and 35 seats from medical colleges will be deducted from the total number of available seats (of J&K) and the reservation for the residents of J&K will be calculated on remaining seats...," the release quoted Subrahmanyam as saying.

However, several termed the reservation a "lollipop to calm their anger".

"This is eyewash," said Sajid Hussain, a political and social activist from Kargil. "We the people of Kargil were opposed to the creation of a UT. There is anger in Ladakh and the government is trying to pacify people by announcing this reservation, it is not going to work."

Political outfits in Kargil have called for a complete shutdown on Wednesday to demand for the restoration of the statehood to Jammu and Kashmir.

People in Leh too said the reservation was too little too late.

J&K: Places of worship can reopen from Aug 16

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
JAMMU, AUGUST 4

THE J&K administration Tuesday decided to allow all places of worship in the UT to reopen from August 16.

Pointing out that this will be subject to observance of SOPs, which would be issued separately, an order issued by Chief Secretary and Chairman of the State Executive Committee of Disaster Management, Relief Rehabilitation and Reconstruction Department BVR Subrahmanyam said "religious processions and large religious gatherings shall, however, remain strictly prohibited".

Apart from this, schools and colleges, cinema halls, swimming pools, amusement parks, spas, theatres, bars, auditoriums and assembly halls will remain shut. The movement of individuals for all non-essential activities will remain prohibited between 10 pm to 5 am and for this, the District Magistrates shall issue specific prohibitory orders under Section 144 of CrP.

Liquor shops will be kept open across the UT.

Private hospitals, e-commerce and courier services, all agriculture, horticulture, animal husbandry and related activities; home deliveries by restaurants and hotels; banking and financial services and services of plumbers, technicians and electricians have also been allowed.

CALL FOR CBI PROBE INTO HOOCH DEATHS

Bajwa, Dullu copying Pilot's playbook, strict action needed: Jakhar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
CHANDIGARH, AUGUST 4

CLAIMING THAT the playbook used in Rajasthan by the Congress leaders against their own government is being replicated in Punjab state party chief Sunil Jakhar Tuesday said they will write to AICC president Sonia Gandhi seeking "strict action" against the "brazen indiscipline" of Rajya Sabha MPs Partap Singh Bajwa and Shamsher Singh Dullu.

Targeting their own party's government in Punjab over the spurious liquor tragedy that has claimed 111 lives, Bajwa and Dullu Monday termed it a "clear cut failure" on part of state's administration and petitioned Governor VP Singh Badnore for a CBI and ED probe into the alleged "illegal" liquor trade in the state.

Jakhar described the move as a "copy-paste job" of what happened in Rajasthan in January after the deaths of 107 infants over which, then deputy chief minister Sachin Pilot had targeted his own government. "Had anyone been taken against Pilot then itself, what is happening today in Rajasthan today could have been avoided," said Jakhar.

He said it was time to save the Congress from the "petty machinations" of the likes of Bajwa and Dullu, who have "shamelessly" in biting the hand that feeds them.

He said he would urge Sonia Gandhi for "strict action" against the two MPs who were "disgracefully exploiting" a tragedy to "further" their own political ambitions. Such "backstabbing" conduct, he said, was "unbecomingly" for a leader of the party. He said he would urge Sonia Gandhi for "strict action" against the two MPs who were "disgracefully exploiting" a tragedy to "further" their own political ambitions. Such "backstabbing" conduct, he said, was "unbecomingly" for a leader of the party.

"I am man of integrity in all these years did not think for expediting the CBI inquiry into the sacrilege cases (which has since been taken over by Punjab Police) or the ED probe into drugs, launched during the erstwhile SAD-BJP government?" he asked.

From Satyameva Link canal to the grant for Punjab, GST refunds, Covid aid and the most recent anti-farmer ordinances, the two MPs had studiously chosen to "keep quiet" in the Upper House on every matter of importance to Punjab, he said.

Meanwhile, Bajwa claimed that he was forced to raise the issue with the Governor as he had not heard from Chief Minister Captain Amarinder Singh.

"As a result of his conscious decision to ignore us and the liquor mafia, 117 innocent individuals were murdered in coldblood for the greed of a few. Would Jakhar have preferred that we ignore or gloss over these deaths in the name of party discipline? I have not bartered away my conscience for a seat," said Bajwa.

He said that it would have been more appropriate for the CM to have visited the families of the deceased.

"The CM had the arrogance and the audacity to publicly comment in a press conference that he does not read our communications. If they were not worthy of response," he added.

"Had Jakhar shown the courage to question the CM on his constant ignorance of these issues, lives may have been saved... The weak-kneed and spineless leadership shown by Jakhar has left the Congress workers in Punjab demoralised," he said.
